Achiever Arianna Jones

Local NAS Member Arianna Jones – was a participant in the recently held annual “Alan C. Locke Oratorical Contest” sponsored by the Beta Lambda Sigma Alumni Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Incorporated. Arianna won First Place in the Competition where she spoke about “The Importance of Free Press in a Democratic Society”. Winning 1st Place earned a $250 cash prize, a beautiful trophy, and a FAMU Summer Camp week of her choice. She appeared extremely comfortable, poised and confident as she rendered her presentation.

Arianna is a rising 8th grader and an active, participating member of the Tallahassee Area Coalition Center of Excellence (TACCOE) – National Achievers Society (NAS). The COE/NAS Family is quite proud of your awesome success. Special shout out to each competition participant and winner; each of you has shown EXCELLENCE! Thank you as well, to the members of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity for providing this opportunity for our young people to be engaged in displaying these skills. Arianna is the daughter of National Achiever Society Parent Alliance (NASPA) member (mom) Tywana Jones.
