HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD

End of School Activities

Are you struggling to keep your students motivated these last weeks of school? Students will enjoy this trendy End of the Year activity that allows them to doodle! Teachers will love the writing prompts that go with the doodling. This product will keep students engaged while continuing to work on writing.

Included in this product:

- My School Year doodle printout
- Choice board with 8 end of year writing prompts
- 8 different journal pages to go with the writing prompts
- Zentangle doodle sheet
- A to Z About Me This Year reflection sheet
- "Dear Next Year Student" letter
- Autograph Printout
- "Most Likely to..." classmates sheet
- Google Classroom Version on separate PDF.

Teachers can use this product in a variety of ways:

- Mix and match printouts which can be used independently or put into a memory book.
- End of Year Writing Station
- Memory Book
- Art Integration with Writing

The students will have an end of the year reflection sheet that they will fill out. After they have finished their reflections, they can enjoy coloring the doodles. If the teacher wants to extend the time for the students to work on the assignment, they can assign the choice board that goes along with the reflection sheet.

The choice board contains 8 writing prompts. There are 8 individual journal pages included that go with each specific prompt. This activity could keep the students busy for over a week during their writing block. All the printouts could then be put together for a fun and colorful memory book.

Enjoy!

Dear
NEW 4TH GRADER,

th

Dear NEW 4TH GRADER.

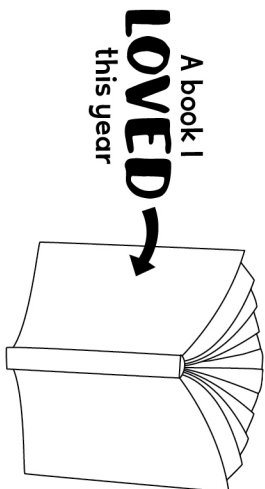

th

My name is Nina. I am now a 5th grader, but I was in Mr Thompson's class last year. you are going to love his class. He is very strict but he is still a lot of fun. One piece of advice I would give you is to not talk back to him. I found out the hard way that he doesn't tolerate rudeness. This experience the pr. principal's best thing I landed me in office. you don't have to worry about being a 5th grader. Some tips you might are the oldest students. You don't have to worry about bigger kids bullying you. Some tips you might want to know that will help you score points with Mr. Thompson are: He likes Dr. Pepper, MrMs, and has a soft heart for animals. This year I worked the hardest I ever have & learned more than any year so far. if you work hard & show respect you will have a good year.

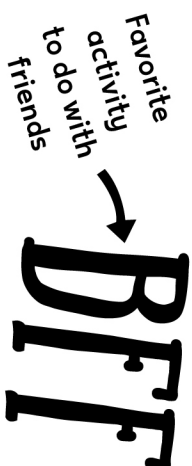

Good luck in 4th grade
Sincerely, Nina

This year the area that took the most effort was learning fractions. It was so difficult and some days I just wanted to cry. Mr. Thompson was very patient with me and kept encouraging me to not give up. It still did not seem to click and so I decided staying after school. I did not want to start because all my friends would be for tutoring. I decided though, things done with fractions. The extra attention I received was just what I needed. After a few weeks I could divide like all my friends. I do not regret giving up my time and that is what I'm most proud of. I feel it took a lot of effort and I'm proud of the effort I gave it. I will definitely go to tutoring next year if I begin to struggle again.
