

welcome to 5th grade!

DEAR FAMILIES,

I am so excited to be your student's math & science teacher this year! We are going to have so much fun, and I can't wait to get started! There is a lot of information I wanted to share prior to school, so please read all the way through. All this information can also be found on my classroom website under class procedures.

Communication:

If you need to contact me, please email me at camperc@leonschools.net. Please do not message me any other way. I will not respond. I will also update here on the website under the update tab. For grades, Focus gradebook, I will input comments when needed, and I update grades weekly.

Turning in assignments:

Each block has their own turn-in bin. Students are instructed to place their finished work in their bins for them to be checked or graded. Completed work should not be turned in anywhere else, or it will not be checked or graded. This is the student's responsibility to turn in their work to the correct place.

Taking Assignments Home:

I understand that sometimes students need extra time, and I am perfectly fine with that. However, please understand that it is the students' responsibility to turn it the following day. If students would like to take their work home, please have them check the assignment out with me at the end of class. It will have a star at the top of the assignment. If you see a star at the top of the assignment, that means the student has checked out the assignment. Please encourage them to finish it independently and turn it in as soon as possible.

Missing work:

I cannot stress this enough, I cannot grade work that is not turned in. If your student has not turned in their work, I cannot put a grade in the gradebook until it is turned in. If they have an assignment missing, it will appear in the gradebook as a Z for missing until it is turned in. I only grade missing work once a week, so it could take up to a week to be updated. If it is an online assignment, the student does have to update me that they have completed that assignment and show it to me.

WEBSITE:

welcome to 5th grade!

Gradebook:

Gradebook will be found on Focus. If you do not have a parent portal log in, I highly encourage you to get one. The gradebook is broken into 4 different components. 50% for assessments, 30% classwork, 20% for quizzes, and 0% for homework (more on this below). If you see a "Z" in the gradebook that means an assignment is missing. An * means that I have excused your student from an assignment. NG means that I have not graded that assignment yet. I input grades once to twice a week. Missing work that is turned after the due date, I only grade once a week.

Graded Work:

I send home graded work. Everything that is graded will be returned to the students to bring home. If a student is not happy with their classwork assignment grade, they may have a second chance to turn it in. Students will not have a second chance with assessments or quizzes, but they will be able to turn in their classwork assignments for a second chance.

Classroom Management:

In class we will be using the school wide positive reinforcement system. Students can earn "punches" on their sting cards or hive fives (which they turn in for punches) for positive behaviors, as well as following rules and procedures of the classroom and the school, and more. Students will have a chance to turn in their sting cards every two weeks for a school wide store and collect prizes.

Attendance:

If your child is going to be out, please make sure to email myself, Ms. Centers, Ms. Reino, AND the office (cssoffice@leonschools.net). Also, if your child has an excuse note or doctor not, please make sure it is sent directly to the office.

Please make sure your student is always on time to class. We will begin promptly at 8:30 in the morning. When your child arrives at school and needs breakfast, please make sure they head there first. Breakfast does end at 8:20. If they arrive after 8:30, they will be considered tardy.

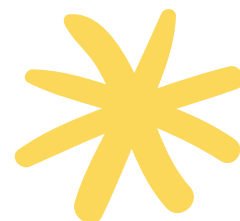

I cannot wait for a wonderful year together. Thank you for all your support outside the classroom!

Kind Regards,

Mrs. Camper
