

At the Petting Zoo

Level E

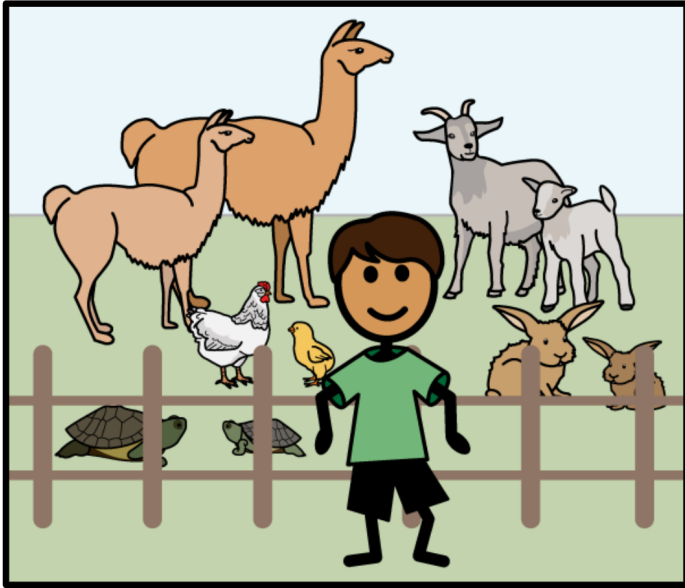

by Jen Voight

Illustrated by Alex Wheeler

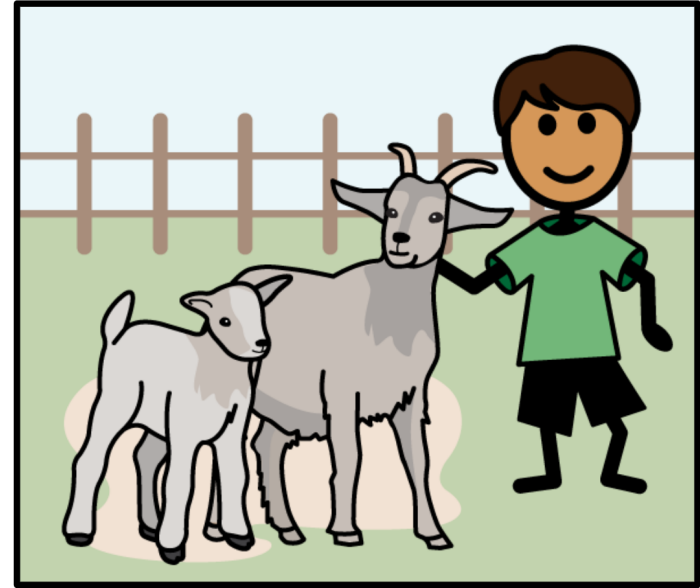

This is Jack. Today Jack is visiting a big petting zoo.

2

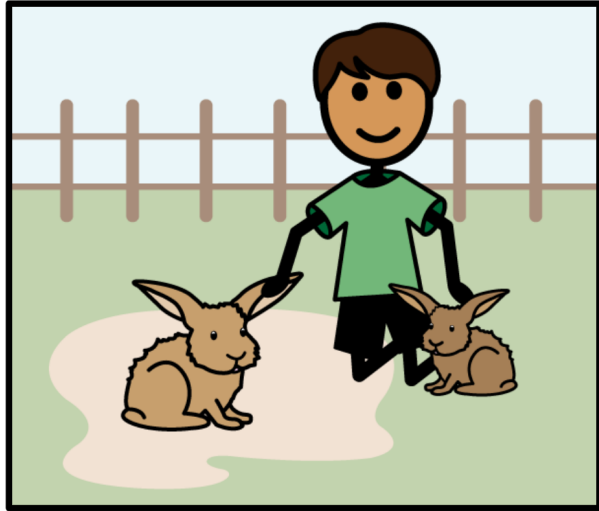

Jack sees many animals at the petting zoo. Some of the animals are parents. Some of the animals are babies. Jack can pet the parent animals. He can pet the animal babies too.

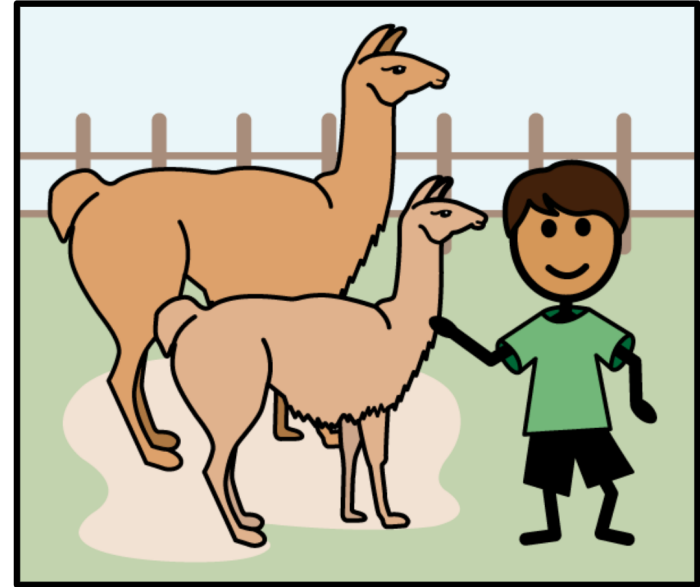

3

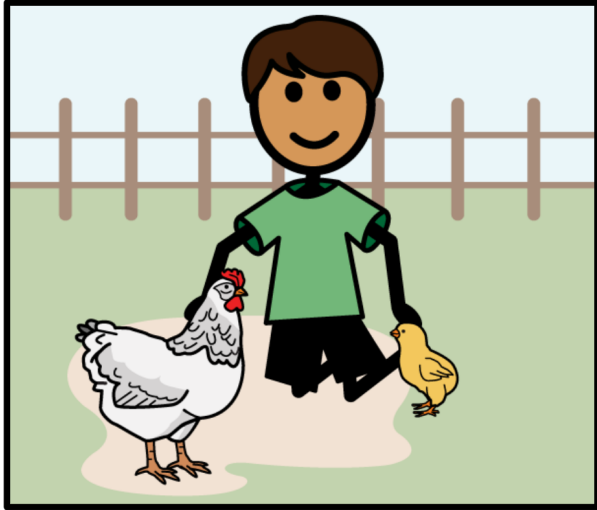

Jack pets a big goat. The big goat is a mother. Jack pets a little goat too. The little goat is a baby. The mother goat has big horns. What does the baby goat look like? How is it different? How is it the same?

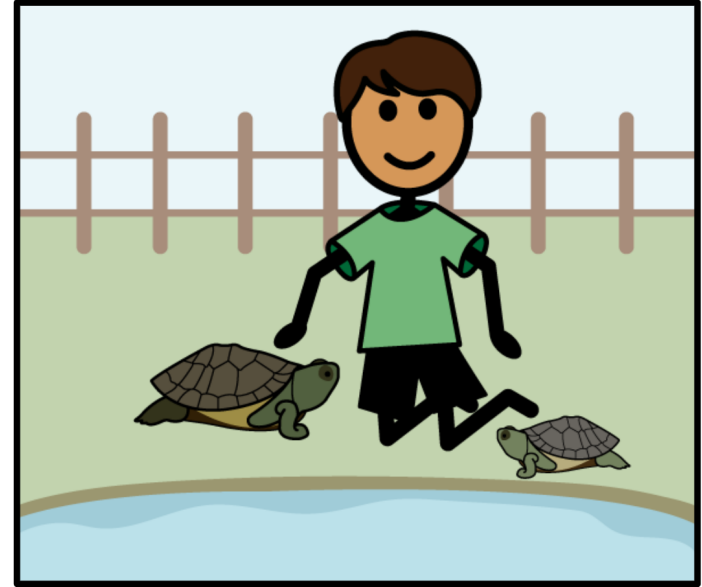

Jack pets a big rabbit. The big rabbit is a mother. Jack pets a little bunny too. The little bunny is a baby. The mother rabbit has long ears. What does the baby bunny look like? How is it different? How is it the same?

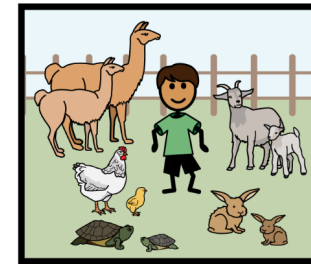

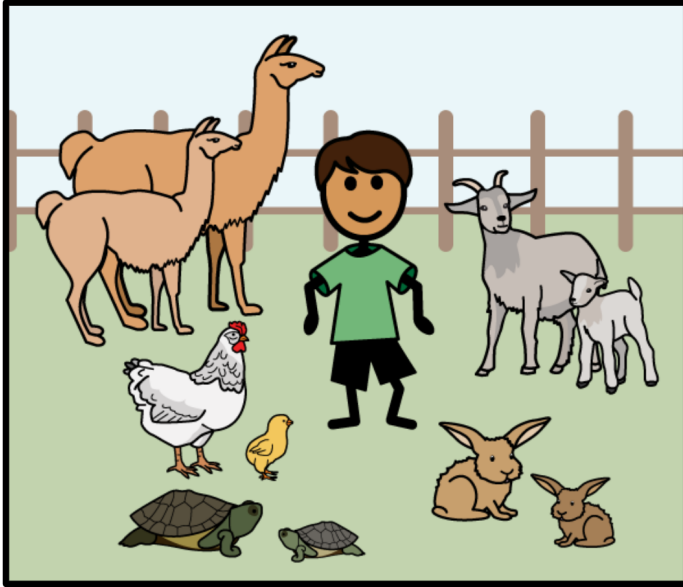

Jack pets a big llama. The big llama is a father. Jack pets a little llama too. The little llama is a baby. The father llama has a long neck. What does the baby llama look like? How is it different? How is it the same?

Jack pets a big chicken. The big chicken is a mother. Jack pets a little chick too. The little chick is a baby. The mother chicken has a sharp beak. What does the baby chick look like? How is it different? How is it the same?

Jack pets a big turtle. The big turtle is a father. Jack pets a little turtle too. The little turtle is a baby. The father turtle has a hard shell. What does the baby turtle look like? How is it different? How is it the same?

The End

Jack is happy. He likes visiting the big petting zoo. Would you like to visit a big petting zoo too ?